The dining room was prettily decorated with numbers of stately palms and myriads of sweet peas, the cluny covered dining table having for a floral center piece a graceful basket of these dainty flowers, the handle being tied with a large tulle bow. The place cards were lovely hand-painted wedding bells, ornamented with orange blossoms and tied with tiny tulle bows.

The bon bons and ices carried out the motif of green and white and a delicious menu was served.

Handsomeness Luncheon.

One of the most delightful of the spring entertainments was the perfectly appointed luncheon given by Mrs. H. S. Frierson at her home at Cross Bridges Saturday, complimentary to Mrs. Green and Mrs. Nelson of Kentucky, the house guests of Mrs. R. C. Gordon. The cool and spacious rooms of the old colonial home were prettily decorated with masses of sweet peas and pink roses. The dining table, almost entirely veiled in rich lace pieces, was most artistically adorned with pink roses and sweet peas and the ices and cakes fashioned in the form of these flowers carried out the color motif. A delicious seven course menu was served. Those enjoying Mrs. Frierson's hospitality were Mesdames Emma McKinney, Minnie Towler, Sam Holding, Clark Jones, R. C. Gordon, Hunter McDonald, of Nashville; Carter Cox, of Franklin; John S. Stephenson, Mary Hine, T. C. Webster, Willis Jones, W. S. Fleming and Misses Laura Galloway, Carrie Webster and Camille Gordon.

numbering almost a hundred, with an ease and savoir faire that would have graced a hostess of far more mature years. Merry games were played, that affording most fun being a peanut contest. Two peanut men, impersonated by Master Ned Carmack for the girls and Master L. P. Padgett for the boys, attired in sheets and covered with strings of peanuts, dashed through the assembled party who immediately gave chase, trying to see who could snatch the most peanuts from them. Miss Elizabeth Emery proving most expert among the girls, and Ned Carmack among the boys, were awarded the prizes, two bright colored balls. ## VICIOUS NEGRO ATTACKS WOMAN

BUT IS FRIGHTENED AWAY BY CRIES FOR HELP AND TIMELY ARRIVAL OF AID.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 17.—An attempt was made near Ridgeway Wednesday afternoon to assault Miss Annie Seigh of 923 North Ninth street, Nashville, by a negro giving his name as Isaac Tamplin, and his address as 1708 Seovel street, Nashville. Miss Seigh was walking in the road near the summer home of H. G. Hill and was accompanied by her sister. She fought the negro viciously and was aided by her sister.

Despite the efforts of the young ladies, Miss Seigh was knocked down and dragged across the road, the negro making toward the thick underbrush when aid that had been attracted by the screams of the girls, arrived. A number of the sons of Dr. A. S. Dabney, who lives nearby, had heard the outcries almost as soon as the negro seized the young lady, and their arrival frightened the brute away.

According to the statements of Ridgeway and Springfield citizens, Tamplin threatened the girls with a big knife. Fortunately the timely arrival of assistance frightened the negro away before he had done the harm he intended. Miss Seigh suffered no serious injury, but was of course very badly frightened and the nervous shock prostrated her.

MAY CALL A SPECIAL JURY

CHATTANOOGA JUDGE INTIMATES THAT LIQUOR CASES MAY BE HANDLED IN JULY.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., June 17.—It is probable that a special session of the grand jury will be called early in July to take cognizance of the liquor situation. This was indicated Wednesday in Judge McReynolds' final address to the jury, which reported at 12:30 o'clock.

"I am not sure that this is the last time I will need you," said the Judge, "and I will not make this a final dismissal. I may call you together again in July, as this court holds till the fourth Saturday of that month, to look into the special matter which I included in my original charge to you."

Practically no action has been taken in whisky cases by the jury just discharged.

No indictments were found in the alleged hotel gambling cases.

ATLANTA PEOPLE DANCE IN CHURCH

ATLANTA, Ga., June 14.—"Tripping the light fantastic" on a hardwood floor, and it well waxed, to the sound of piano music, was the novel scene that the First University church presented Thursday night. A number of young people of the church will dance in the clubroom of the church weekly.

Rev. E. Dean Ellenwood, the pastor, said of dancing: "I consider dancing an innocent and healthful amusement. I do not believe in letting the devil have all the good things."

OLD GLORY FLOATS FROM POST OFFICE

Superintendent Morell has had the flag pole erected over the Columbia post office building and the Stars and Stripes were hung to the breeze this morning, although it will be four months yet before the building is completed.

The flag pole is made of fat southern pine and extends about thirty feet above the top of the building. The pole was elaborately treated with oils and paints before it was put up and should last a life-time. A handsome gilded balls adorns the top.

BIG JEWELRY AUCTION SALE

JAMES BROTHERS TO OFFER STOCK IN ORDER TO PREVENT REMOVAL OF GOODS.

The handsomest line of jewelry ever offered at auction in Tennessee will be sold in Columbia, commencing Wednesday, June 23 and continuing until about the first of July. Two sales will be held daily, one at 2:30 and one at 7:30 p. m. The stock to be thus disposed of is that of the James Bros. Jewelry Co., located in the Bethell Block. This auction sale is put on for the purpose of disposing of the entire stock by or before the first day of July if possible, and the reason for wanting to dispose of the stock in such short order is to avoid if possible having to pack the goods and move out of the building for at least two or three weeks to enable this enterprising firm to install their new and complete set of fixtures. The entire house will be overhauled and the handsomest line of jewelers fixtures ever seen in this section of the country will be installed. Mr. Murray, one of the members of the firm, stated to a Herald reporter a few days ago that it was his intention to give Columbia a first class jewelry store, something that will eclipse anything seen in Nashville, and that not only would he give them a handsome store but the handsomest line of wares and jewelry ever brought to a town the size of Columbia. ## POTATO CROP READY TO DIG

MANY GROWERS HAVE ALREADY SOLD—PRICES BROKE ON ACCOUNT OF CONDITION.

Maury county's large Irish potato crop will be placed on the market within the next two weeks, as digging will begin Friday in a number of fields, if the weather is at all suitable. Many potato raisers have already sold their crops and agreed at the time of sale to begin digging on June 18th. The outlook is for a rather small yield, the frost has damaged the crop in many instances, and some dealers claim the protracted rains have also done some damage.

From present outlook those who have sold their crops are fortunate as the market broke pretty badly Tuesday and it is impossible to tell just what the opening will be. Dealers claim that the break in the market was caused by the inferior quality of the crops in Texas, Mississippi and South Carolina, which was marketed in bad condition on account of the wet weather, and when this inferior crop was dumped on the market the break followed.

My! What an Oat crop. Had you not better engage your Sax to handle them from CALLENDER & CO. 1t
